PROFILE

Career

Anna studied law at the University of Passau with a special focus on criminal law, white collar crime and corporate law. She completed her legal traineeship in the Higher Regional Court districts of Nuremburg and Munich.

While pursuing her doctorate, Anna worked as a research associate in two international law firms in Frankfurt and Munich, specializing in corporate law and capital markets law (IDCM).

Apart from that, while working on her dissertation, Anna taught criminal law at the University of Regensburg. In 2023, she completed her doctorate in German criminal procedural law at the same university, earning the distinction 'summa cum laude'.

Since 2026, Anna has been a Senior Associate at stetter Rechtsanwälte where she already began her career as a legal trainee in 2021. She provides legal counsel and representation to individuals and companies in matters related to white-collar criminal law and acts as witness counsel in white-collar crime proceedings and internal investigations.

In 2025, Anna successfully completed the theoretical component of the specialist lawyer training in criminal law.
